

"Freelance Humanitarian"

Dick Gregory Speaks on Campus

By Mark Rydberg

Dick Gregory, the freelance humanitarian, will speak about "Social Problems: Social or Anti-Social" on the Wartburg Campus, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m. in Neumann Auditorium as the second convocation speaker of the Winter Term.

Gregory was born in the black ghetto of St. Louis, Mo. While in high school, he became a state champion in track and field, and later expanded his honors on the track at Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

When he chose a career in comedy, black comedians received bookings only in black clubs and theaters. In 1961 he was called as a last minute replacement at Chicago's Playboy Club. He soon appeared in top clubs in the country and on major network television shows, consequently he was able to open formerly tightly closed doors of the white-dominated entertainment industry to all the black comedians who followed his breakthrough.

DURING THE CIVIL rights movement of the 1960's, Gregory participated in every major demonstration for human rights in America. His participation cost him over a million dollars in cancelled bookings, travel expenses and legal fees. He has been behind prison bars many times, serving two 45-day sentences. Gregory fasted during both periods of confinement taking only distilled water for nourishment.

In 1967, Gregory formally entered politics, but on his own terms. He ran as a write-in independent candidate for mayor of the city of Chicago. The following year he was a write-in independent candidate for President of the United States of America. He lost the election, but on March 4, 1969, in Washington, D.C., his supporters inaugurated him President of the United States In Exile, in a ceremonial which included the oath of non-office, an inaugural address and two inaugural balls.

HE SIMPLY does not believe in killing. Consequently he is also a vegetarian. Gregory has received the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Malcolm X University (Chicago) and the degree of Doctor of Laws from Lincoln University in Pennsylvania.

Gregory became famous as a professional comedian, but today he is a recording artist, author, lecturer, actor, human rights activist, social satirist, critic, philosopher and political analyst. He combines all these roles to serve the cause of human liberation and to alleviate human suffering brought on by ignorance and apathy.

Art Instructor Displays Works

Jack Loeb, a Wartburg art instructor, will be exhibiting some of his works in the Art Building gallery starting Jan. 15 and running to Feb. 15.

Among his works are a series of paintings of the heart using different colors and geometric shapes. There will also be some drawings. All the works have been done during the last year.

Included in the exhibit will be a display of ceramics by Nancy Peterson of Lincoln, Nebraska. A professional artist, Miss Peterson is known for her intricate hand-built boxes with various silver and gold glazes.

Loeb, who is in his second year of teaching here, received his M.A. from U.N.I. Miss Peterson also received her M.A. from that college.

The gallery hours vary but generally are from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

Choirs Perform in Festival

The fourth annual Meistersinger Festival Honor Choir will rehearse at Wartburg College Jan. 13 and 14, with Dr. Wendell Whalum, director of the Morehouse College Glee Club in Atlanta, Ga., serving as guest clinician.

Dr. Whalum, a graduate of Morehouse College, received his M.A. degree from Columbia University and his Ph.D. from the University of Iowa.

Dr. Whalum and Dr. James E. Fritschel of the Wartburg music faculty will rehearse the high school students and present them in concert Jan. 14 at 4 p.m. in Knights Gymnasium.

The 170 high school students will be divided into two 85-voice choirs for the main portion of the concert. For the final performance the choirs will be massed to present Haydn's "Miss Brevis," which will be accompanied by the Wartburg Chamber Orchestra. Also included in the program will be four high school soloists to be selected.

Students were selected for the Honor Choir on the basis of recommendations of their high school directors, and come from 80 different schools and five states. While attending the festival they will be housed by members of the Wartburg Choir and Castle Singers.

Dr. Whalum will speak on "The Afro-American Song" as part of the college's convocation series Jan. 15 at 2 p.m. His lecture-demonstration will include the newly-formed Wartburg Gospel Choir, which is under the direction of sophomore Keith Barrows. Dr. Whalum will interpret and explain the significance of the music.

Series Presents Estes

Bass-baritone Simon Estes, one of two black males on the major opera stage, will perform in concert Jan. 14 at 8 p.m. in Neumann Auditorium. The 1966 winner of Moscow's First International Tchaikovsky Vocal Competition appears as part of Wartburg's Artist Series.

A native Iowan, Estes began his singing career in Centerville's Second Baptist Church. He later represented Central High School in a statewide competition at Cedar Falls, singing "On Top of Old Smokey."

Estes attended Centerville Junior College and the University of Iowa, where he first studied in the School of Medicine and later for the ministry.

At Iowa City he auditioned for the University Choir but was told he "just wasn't good enough." He did, however, manage to become the first black member of the Old Gold Singers, where he was soon singled out as a soloist and came to the attention of voice teacher Charles Kellis.

Kellis taught him privately for four or five hours each day and, in 1963, arranged for him to receive a full scholarship at Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

After a year there, Estes was invited by a friend to go to Germany, where an audition was set up for him with the Independent of the Deutsche Oper in Berlin. He was immediately offered the role of Ramifs in "Aida," provided he could learn it in 13 days and go on without an orchestra rehearsal. He did and was soon offered other roles and invited to join the company for four guest appearances in Rome.

He entered the Munich International Competition in 1965 and won third prize in a field of several hundred singers. After winning the silver medal in Moscow, he was given city hall receptions in New York and Des Moines, featured on a special Tanglewood Festival program, on television with the "Tonight Show," with Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic and received at the White House by President Johnson.

Since then, he has played some 44 roles with various opera companies.

Last summer and fall he toured Australia and New Zealand, recreating the role of Ned in Scott Joplin's folk opera "Treemonisha," opening the International Olympics at Munich with Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, singing Pane in Cavalli's "La Calisto" in Brussels and Ghent, performing leading roles with the San Francisco Opera and singing in Dallas, Buffalo, New York, Seattle, Madrid and Copenhagen.

Any student who failed to pick up a ticket may still get one from the box office in Neumann Auditorium before the concert.

Editorial forum

The Winter Term begins with new classes and a newly organized Trumpet staff. The 35 member staff will be reporting on all aspects of college life.

It is my sincere hope as the editor to bring you the facts as they appear with a direct story from the source. We hope to keep you up to date on all campus events with "What's Up," a column of happenings on the campus.

I urge that you as the student participate and give feedback whenever you feel necessary. Please feel free to challenge the editorial board or the paper as a whole.

The executive staff meets every Thursday night at 7:30 in the Neumann House. These meetings are open for anyone to sit in on to express his opinion.

Letters to the editor should be typed and double spaced and be as brief as possible. The editor is free to make corrections in copy but will not change the meaning. All letters must be signed by the writer and addressed to the editor.

Editor's Note

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Brenda Otto for serving the college as past editor as she did.

I would like to also thank all those involved in the remodeling of the Neumann House to make it more functional.

Letters to the Editors

The senseless, immoral bombing of Vietnam continues at a level of intensity far exceeding even the attacks of past years. Jan. 1, 1973, marked the beginning of the 13th year of U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, with no end in sight. Nixon and his handyman Kissinger speak of an "honorable peace" ending the bloodshed, while American war planes continue to indiscriminately bomb the Vietnamese people. There can be no honorable peace to such a savage war. The war can only be ended when all U.S. troops are withdrawn from Vietnam.

On Sunday, Jan. 14, at 2 p.m., the Wartburg Peace Action Committee will be meeting in the Student Senate office. The purpose of this meeting is to discuss possible activities which could be undertaken in the coming days. All students and faculty interested in working on some activity or having suggestions for activities are urged to attend this meeting.

EDITOR'S REPLY

Advocating a "paper blitz on Washington to end the war," a group of students at Luther Seminary St. Paul, Minn., have given wide distribution to a letter-writing proposal.

The plan, as outlined by Thomas A. Duke, instructor in pastoral counseling, calls for the writing of three letters every day until the war ends.

Letters daily to President Nixon, to congressmen and other influential leaders are advocated. Short letters with varied texts, stating whatever a citizen's opinions may be, are suggested, with emphasis on regularity and persistence.

We, the parents of the Waverly Head-Start children, would like to extend our deep gratitude and whole-hearted thanks to all those who helped with the Christmas party held Dec. 13 at Wartburg Hall. A special thank you to Tonja Zegarac and Peggy Moser, who started it all.

This joyous occasion offered these children a brighter Christmas--a fulfillment of dreams which might otherwise have not come true. And we, as parents, discovered how many people really care--indeed, a rich Christmas blessing!

...the p.f. flier

Greetings of the new year, and hello from me, the P.F. Flier. Sitting here in the new Wartburg Trumpet office under the auspices of Bill (Ever-Lovin') Gibson, this will be a weekly column of writings creative...more or less...to the nearest decimal...good measure...etc.

I encourage you to send your original pen crafts (poems, essays, documents, etc.) to me, the P.F. Flier, in care of the Trumpet, for inclusion in this column. Here's a chance to break into print-maybe. (We reserve the right to pick and choose what is used.)

Please contribute, 'cause if we don't get support, it means I (gasp) will have to write the column myself.

So peace and ducks again, shall see you next week.--P.F.

Guest Soloists Perform at Concert

Violinist Harold Sundet and violist Mike Palumbo will be featured at the Wartburg Symphony orchestra concert Tuesday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p.m. in Neumann Auditorium. The symphony, under the direction of Dr. Franklin Williams, will perform Mozart's "Sinfonia Concertante," Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite" and Gershwin's "An American in Paris."

Sundet took his undergraduate work at St. Olaf and his graduate work at the University of Iowa. He taught public school music for 14 years and has done college work for six. He has been on the Wartburg faculty for the past three and a half years.

Sundet is the concert master of the Wartburg Community Symphony and the Waterloo-Cedar Falls Symphony.

Palumbo received his bachelor of arts and master's degrees at the University of Denver. He is presently teaching in the Cedar Falls public schools. He is also the principal violist in the Waterloo-Cedar Falls Symphony.

Senate News

The Student Senate appropriated up to $75 for the Wartburg Action Coalition and $90 to sponsor two basketball games, during Wednesday's meeting.

The Senate elected junior Ken de Bronkart as a Senate representative to the Student and Faculty Exchange (SAFE) Committee.

Junior Barb Donica was appointed new Senate assistant, replacing junior Tom Guy.

Bruce Loeschen was replaced by the appointment of freshmen Sue Lee as the Social Activities director. Also appointed to this committee were senior Joe Thomas, and freshmen James Willard and Andrea Hagel.

College Hosts Update '73

Update '73, the second Wartburg College conference for women, brought 120 area females on campus Jan. 8 to participate in a day of serious study and discussion of today's world.

The session covered five subjects in the fields of literature, history, drama, economics and communication. Leading each discussion was a Wartburg professor who is a specialist in that area.

Updating drama was Miss Joyce Birkeland in a speech entitled, "All Right, Miss Brown, You Can Put Your Clothes On Now." Describing today's theater as being "so free that nobody cares anymore," she explained that theater was now moving in the direction of improvisation.

Updating literature was Mrs. Barbara Truesdale of the English Department. In her speech, "The 'Good Book' Isn't the Only Good Book," she introduced a six week mini-course on Literature and Christian Thought, which will be offered to area residents beginning Jan. 23. The course will run six consecutive Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Dr. William Rodemann updated history in his speech, "Are We Drowning Our Think Tanks?" He viewed the past and the present and asked whether man has any control over the future.

Dr. Melvin Kramer, chairman of the Business Administration and Economics Department, assessed the stock market and other financial indications and considered their impact on the investor in a speech entitled, "Keeping Up with the Dow Joneses."

President John W. Bachman tells the 120 women attending Update '73 "Why Johnny Won't Need to Read."

Lastly, President John W. Bachman updated communication in a talk called "Why Johnny Won't Need to Read." He explored radio, TV and other media and the effect McLuhanism has upon time.

The conference was held in the Student Memorial Union, starting at 9:30 a.m. and ending at 4 p.m.

A similar conference last year drew about the same number of women from all over Northeast Iowa.

Bus Service Is Provided

A shuttle bus from the Student Union to the Cedar Falls-Waterloo area will again be provided this term by the Student Senate.

Student Body President Jerry Lawrence said this week that round-trip service to the University of Northern Iowa Library and the College Square Shopping Center will be available on scheduled nights at a fare of 75 cents. Tickets may be purchased in the Senate Office.

The bus will leave at 6 p.m. from the side door of the Student Union and will return at about 11:30 p.m.

The purpose of the service is to provide students without cars an opportunity to leave Waverly to shop, use the University's library, take in a movie, etc., said Lawrence.

The shuttle bus schedule is:

Central, Simpson This Weekend

Knights Wreck Dubuque, Penn

BY JIM GROSSER

This weekend Coach Buzz Levick's basketball team will try to whip Central and Simpson the way they knocked off Dubuque and William Penn last week.

Central has had some problems getting untracked this season, dropping seven of its first nine games, but Levick is still convinced the Flying Dutchmen are one of the teams to beat.

"Like us, they've only played a few games at home, and they've been up against some top-flight competition. They still have three of the league's top players in Dean Duistermars, Dana Snoap and Carl Nichols. I've not changed my mind about their potential."

Simpson, on the other hand, probably has been the surprise of the league. The Redmen were hit hard by graduation, but coach Dick Starr has molded a number of last year's reserves into a 5-4 club (2-1 in league play). Heading the Redmen's scoring parade is 6-8 center Doug Shafer, who threw in 37 during Saturday night's 105-97 win over Upper Iowa and is averaging 21.3 points per IAC game.

Against Dubuque, the Knights got off to a slow start, taking almost three minutes before scoring, but pulled together when Frank Stewart and Fred Walstein checked into the lineup.

Asked if the insertion of Stewart and Waldstein did anything for the team, Coach Lewis Levick said, "I think that it did several things for our team. It brought us closer together, we had a bit more desire and hustle than we had prior to that time and I think it served us well in both weekend games. I don't think there's any question that Waldstein and Stewart dominated the boards the first half and really for the ballgame."

The Knights played good basketball from then on and at half time the score was 32-23. In the second half the Knights took complete control and never were seriously threatened. The final score of that game was 79-43.

Saturday night Wartburg was hosted by William Penn, and the Knights, were never behind in this game, jumped out to an eight-point lead early in the game and after the end of ten minutes the score was 16-2. At halftime the score stood at 40-16. The closest Penn ever got after that was the final score, 72-56, a 16-point spread.

The two weekend wins put the Knights, six-time conference champs, at 2-0 in the league in conference play, tied with Luther.

Asked what sparked the team this weekend, Levick said, "I think sports, and particularly basketball, is a very simple game if you go out and play with enthusiasm and this is what we have not been doing and we did that this past weekend. I think we'll always be a fairly good team as long as we have that same kind of intense interest and enthusiasm."

BENCHTIME

By Sam Weaver

This week's quiz is designed to undermine those who scorn sports as irrelevant and immaterial. Answers appear at the bottom of the column.

1. When was the last time Wartburg participated in the NAIA National Basketball tournament?

2. What well-known running back was drafted on the 191st round of the 1969-70 season? (Hint, Norm Snead was once quarterback for the team.)

This Sunday hopefully marks the end of the Bowl games with Washington pitted against the champion Miami Dolphins. Then again only Howard Cossell (Silver tongue of sport) knows what new type of football atrocity some brilliant television executive might invent.

Who knows, after the Super Bowl, we as TV viewers might submit to football funnies like the Kitchen Bowl, Horsh-oeuvres Bowl, or here is one for senior football players--Last-Look-before the-Pro-Draft Bowl. To top off everything is the well known, notoriously dirty Toilet Bowl.

Next thing you know ABC will start showing reruns of Monday Night Football games-- and not this past season, but 1970 pre-Frank Gifford. If the ratings from these reruns prove successful, some ambitious television high head might decide to show old games like nightly movie extravaganzas.

As you read this, lie back, shut your eyes and imagine Tuesday, Thursday and Friday night football games the year around. Geez, the only thing worse than that is Avery Brundage returning to head the International Olympic Committee.

Along with reruns, old bubble gum cards would have to be recycled and this might return past stars to the limelight. It would be fun hearing 47-year-old Stud Richards on a television talk show repeating what he has said in millions of interviews.

Oh well, it is something to look forward to. Not much, mind you, but something.

Answers to Quiz:

1. In Kansas City, 1969-70.

2. Washington's Larry Brown, 1969-70. At one time Norm Snead was the Redskins' quarterback.
